COMMUNITY CENTER RECEIVES ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN AWARD

The Town of Pittsford's Paul M. Spiegel Community Center has received a 2019 Architectural Design Excellence Award from the American Institute of Architects - Rochester Chapter. The award celebrates the best in contemporary architecture and highlights the many ways buildings and spaces can improve our lives. An esteemed outside jury comprised of architects and interior designers from the northeast selected award recipients.

"Town staff members from every department had a hand in the success of this project, from planning through implementation," said Pittsford Town Supervisor Bill Smith. "HBT Architects worked diligently with our teams to create an exceptionally functional yet historically sensitive update and expansion of the facility. Former Town Councilwoman and project liaison Mary Gehl Doyle lent her truly committed and valuable leadership to the effort." Supervisor Smith continued: "We're all very proud to receive such an impressive recognition for our Community Center. It's a fitting testament to the purpose we envisioned when we began the project - to provide outstanding services to our residents in a uniquely welcoming, top-quality facility that preserves and reflects our history."

The expanded and completely renovated Paul M. Spiegel Community Center reopened in August of 2018. The facility features:

- bright and inviting child care and youth programming rooms
- a Senior Center featuring a large meeting room with commercial grade kitchen, a lounge, and activity rooms
- fully remodeled multi-purpose and activity rooms for dance, fitness, classes, meetings and other programming, featuring outstanding audiovisual amenities
- completely renovated gymnasium and new playground
- new restroom and shower facilities
- energy efficient and ADA-compliant amenities

The community center building was constructed in 1916 as the Pittsford School, which served Pittsford children from kindergarten through 12th grade. The Town acquired it in 1973 for use as its Recreation Department. The building was dedicated in honor of Paul M. Spiegel in 1987 upon his retirement as Pittsford Town Supervisor and was rededicated in his honor at the facility's re-opening in 2018.
